

An illustration of a person from behind, wearing a black t-shirt. A prominent feature is a pink sunburst or starburst tattoo on their upper back. They are seated at a table covered with a red cloth, looking down at something on the table.

The page is a vibrant spread from a children's book. On the left, a black and brown platypus is shown swimming towards the right. Next to it is a large green and blue DNA double helix. Below the platypus is a pink illustration of a fetus in the womb, with a umbilical cord. To the right of the DNA is a detailed anatomical diagram of the human digestive system, showing the stomach, intestines, and rectum. A vertical yellow line with arrows points from the text labels to specific parts of the diagram. The background is white with some green and blue decorative elements.

